

Admiral Group named one of the World's best workplaces

26 Oct 2017

We're proud to announce that Great Place to Work has named Admiral Group as the 23rd best workplace in the world on the seventh annual 25 World's Best Workplaces list.

More than 10 million employees from 6,600 companies around the globe participated in the survey process for the World's Best Workplaces list. The ranking assessed employees' views on leadership, organisational culture, and trust.

Great Place to Work's World's Best Workplaces create cultures that are welcoming, friendly, inclusive, and ethical. An overwhelming majority of employees at the World's Best say they're proud of their workplaces.

Admiral qualified due to a number of its operations around the world making the Best Workplaces list in their respective countries. Admiral was also named as the 6th Best Multinational Workplace in Europe earlier this year by Great Place to Work.

Admiral Group CEO, David Stevens, commented, "We're immensely proud to be named as one of the World's Best Workplaces for the first time. Our culture is intrinsically linked to our success as a business and it's gratifying to see that our staff, not just in South Wales but around the globe, think we're a Great Place to Work. Whether they're based in Cardiff or Seville or Rome or Halifax, Canada, they all have a huge part to play in making Admiral the business that it is, and I thank them all for their hard work and commitment."

Great Place to Work's CEO, Michael Bush, added, "The organisations on this year's World's Best Workplaces list represent the best of the best. They are at the vanguard of the FOR ALL movement, working to maximise the potential of everyone in a way that's better for the business, better for the people and better for the world."